The Red Oak Victory Ship - John Trtek

November 16, 2016

7 pm

St Andrew's Presbyterian Church

1601 Mary Drive, Pleasant Hill, CA 94523

We are all of "that age" that is still so interested in World War II. It especially impacted the west coast of our country. Most of you have visited the Rosie the Riveter Memorial in Richmond, and enjoyed its displays and movies.

On November 16th, John Trtek will join us to share another side of the war. He is a volunteer at the Richmond museum, and is especially interested in the Red Oak Victory Ship which is docked near by. He will share its history and why this ship is especially symbolic of our country's ideals. You won't want to miss this interesting and informative program.

For more information or directions, call Gayle Garrison, 925-798-7528, or Nancy Hobert, 925-228-7271

PRESIDENTIAL POSTINGS

What an awesome branch we have. Our new venue for our major fundraiser, "A Taste of Fall" was amazing and a huge success. Kudos and many, many thanks go out to Sherrie Moore and Marlene DeLaurenti for chairing and all the numerous members who helped put the event together. It is not easy to put together such a huge event from scratch.

The setting for "A Taste of Fall" was lovely and held in Margie and Lou Pruitt's backyard. Many thanks to them both for letting us hold the event there and for some of the set-up. It is greatly appreciated. Everyone had a wonderful time sipping and trying out a variety of wines. Thank you to our wine pourers, Gary Moore and Loren DeLaurenti for pouring champagne and white wines. It was so enjoyable to have a local winery, thanks to Steve and Genee Welch for pouring their wine from Rancho Las Juntas Vineyard. And we can't forget the fun crew pouring wine from Bray Vineyards owned by a local family. To top it off Lou Pruitt poured his brother-in-law's wine from Oakley. Along with the wine everyone enjoyed a great variety of hors d'oeuvres and desserts. They were delicious and many thanks to those who made them. Also thanks to the 2 girls from Alhambra High School Interact Club who did a fantastic job of replenishing and passing out the hors d'oeuvres. As people were sipping, eating and visiting, the ambience would not have been complete without the awesome music. Many thanks to the College Park High Jazz Band of which one notable member is Joan Foster's grandson, Kenji. Another successful part was the silent auction and 50/50 raffle. Appreciation needs to be extended to those who sought out business donations, donated items and put together the lovely themed baskets. Last but not least we need to thank the weather gods for such a perfect day. Before it was extremely hot and the next day rain. Recapping "A Taste of Fall", there were so many members who were part of the event that it would take pages to thank them all. So a HUGE thank you to everyone. What a wonderful group effort.

The proceeds from "A Taste of Fall" will be divided equally between AAUW Fund, local scholarships and Tech Trek. The recipients are always grateful and it is a great way to contribute to our community in a positive way and carry forward our AAUW mission. Not only is it gratifying but can be lots of fun in the process. So volunteer and join in the fun at a future event.

Speaking of fun, we have another fundraiser to help send another group of seventh grade girls to science camp this summer through our Tech Trek program. Hope to see many of you at DVC on November 6th to watch the play Hairspray. It will be a great way to spend an afternoon.

From a directive sent from national AAUW we will again be revisiting our by-laws. The content should not change but rather the format in order to coincide with the national AAUW by-laws.

One of the key events in November is the national election along with state and local candidates and propositions. AAUW national and state is encouraging everyone to get out and vote as well as encouraging others to do so.

So with this busy November, see you at the polls, Sunday, November 6th for the play and Wednesday, November 16th at our program/meeting.

Jennifer and Claudia

Honored Martinez Alhambra Homecoming Grand Marshal

This year's 2016 Alhambra High School Homecoming Grand Marshal is Harriett Burt, one of our community superheroes. Many Martinez residents call her "Ms. Martinez." She emcees at most public events, including the Alhambra High School Homecoming Parade, Martinez Youth Baseball Parade, the Italian Street Painting Festival, and Martinez Arts Association's Art in the Park Festival.

She was a teacher and later vice principal at the high school from 1962 to 1980. Harriett was a reporter, acting society editor, community editor, and later managing editor of the Martinez News Gazette, from 1969 to 1978. And from 1983 to 1990, she was the community, society and feature editor.

She has been in public service, as a City Council member from 1992 to 1996, and was on the Parking Place Commission from 1988 to 1990 and the Planning Commission from 1999 to 2013. Harriett became the first woman chosen president of the Martinez Boys and Girls Club, and has been president of our Martinez AAUW, Martinez Soroptimist Club and Martinez Education Association.

She often welcomes prospective jurors to jury duty on Mondays. Harriett is a volunteer at the Martinez Historical Society, and also volunteers at the Contra Costa County History Center. Congratulations, Harriett! You deserve this honor.

EDUCATION

Gayle Duncan

A number of years ago, the Mt. Diablo Unified School District, instituted a new behavior plan. I was teaching at the time, and it was called the Three B's, which stood for, Be Safe, Be Respectful, and Be Responsible. This behavior plan, used positive reinforcement to elicit good behavior from the students. Recently, the East Bay Times ran an article about "Alternate Discipline 'Goes A Long Way'." Today, MDUSD has expanded the three B's to include other measures that reward good behavior, instead of punishment for bad behavior. There are still consequences for inappropriate behavior, but the focus is on the learning aspect. Some elementary schools use "restorative circles." Students are encouraged to use the "talking stick" to discuss topics such as bullying and rumors. Alternate discipline methods have resulted in building positive school cultures, promoted learning, developed a stronger school community, and encouraged students to stay in school. Since this behavior concept debuted, five years ago, the disproportionate rate of suspensions for African-American students and Latino students has been reduced. Overall suspension rate has been reduced from 8 percent to 5 percent, in 28 out of 58 schools, in the district, that are using intervention techniques. Elementary schools have reduced suspensions from 4 percent to 2 percent, middle school suspensions have gone from 12 percent to 9 percent, and high school suspensions have gone from 15 percent to 10 percent. Hispanic student expulsions have gone from 22-8 percent, and African-Americans from 9-1 percent. White student expulsions have gone from 10-9 per year. Each school uses a variety of "rewards" for good behavior. For example, elementary students can earn: colorful pencil erasers, soccer balls, art kits, modeling clay, an extra 10 minutes of recess, or pizza with the principal. At some high schools, students earn: letters home, trendy wristbands, make the "principal's list, or "Student of the Week." The high school staff also makes a point to talk to students between classes to show they care about the student outside of the classroom. When school staff doesn't have to spend so much time and energy on discipline, it makes for a better learning environment. As the results show, positive reinforcement has been very successful in improving and reinforcing good student behavior.

Thank you

Sherrie Moore and Marlene DeLaurenti would like to thank each and everyone one of you who helped us with A Taste of Fall, our annual fundraiser for Tech Trek, Local Scholarships, and AAUW Fund. We want to especially thank Margie and Lou Pruitt for hosting this event in their beautiful backyard.

We sold 87 tickets. You, our members, made 20 different hearty appetizers and 7 bite size desserts, coordinated by Marie Cattalini (our appetizer chair) and Janice Walker and Marlene Maksel (the dessert chairpersons), and passed by two lovely girls from Alhambra High School's Interact Club. We enjoyed Joan Foster's grandson's College Park Jazz Band as well as wine poured by local wineries.

Gayle Miner and Claudia Bass sold 50/50 Raffle tickets totaling $667, and Deidre Siguenza, who won the raffle, generously returned all but $100, for a total of $567 for our branch.

And thank you all who donated items to our Silent Auction, with a special thanks to Cheryl Buscaglia, our basket designer and assembly coordinator. We had 27 items including 18 very full baskets with a gift card in each one. Barbara Minneman and Sharon Wilson coordinated the silent action tables. You were all so generous in your bidding for the baskets and items. Our profit from the Silent Auction was $2655. After our expenses, we will be able to donate about $6,000 to Tech Trek, Local Scholarships and AAUW Fund, split evenly three ways.

Margie and Lou Pruitt appreciated everyone who cleaned up and folded chairs and tables. We didn't even have a cleanup committee, but you always do your part to help.

We hope that you enjoyed this magnificent event. Thank you for being generous with your time and donations for our worthwhile AAUW scholarships.

AAUW FUND

Harriett Burt and Helen Pereira, AAUW Fund VPs

My phone rang on Thursday morning about 3 weeks ago. It was the manager of Tahoe Joe's calling to inform me that the restaurant was closing and we would not be able to hold our fundraiser there on November 13. "When is it closing?" I asked. "It is already closed," she replied. "They are dismantling the kitchen right now."

She had already had a tough morning --- she had had to call all the employees to tell them not to come into work....ever. She called three other organizations such as ours who had planned fundraisers and six social or family parties. Jennifer was pretty emotionally worn out by the time she reached me. And my thoughts immediately went to Brooke, the enthusiastic hostess who was so interested in our organization and our mission. When I get back from Ashland, I must find her phone number and call her.

So the old faithful TJ's fundraiser is no more. Fund and Tech Trek and the great programs we all support benefitted greatly from it. It was an excellent community outreach by the chain which has been sold to another company. We could, however, organize a field trip to Vacaville for our fund raisers going forward. The Tahoe Joe's there is still open! Oh, never mind....the new owners probably won't be so generous. Thank you all in the Branch for your support of this pretty easy fundraiser for the last several years.

And our thanks to the outstanding committee who put on the fabulous and successful Taste of Fall event which AAUW Fund, Local Scholarships and Tech Trek will benefit from. Thanks to everyone for supporting it. It was great fun in a lovely setting, wasn't it?

ELECTION DAY IS NOVEMBER 8!!!

REMEMBER TO VOTE!!!

EVERY VOTE COUNTS!!!

This year is a big election year with 17 Propositions, Martinez has 2 Measures, I'm not sure if Pleasant Hill has any Measures on the Ballot. We are electing a Senator and a new President, City Council Members, Assembly members and State Senators. This is important and your vote matters.

AAUW California has recommendations for voting on their website: <http://www.aauw-ca.org> if you need assistance deciding which way to vote.

How can you evaluate candidates? What issues are important to you? Please look for positions on issues relevant to AAUW's mission of promoting equity for all women and girls. Are you concerned about the gender pay gap, paid family leave and sick days, human trafficking, sexual violence, reproductive rights, college affordability: these are issues you can look up on the website.

Remember there is an opening on the Supreme Court, who do you want to choose a Supreme Court Justice?

"For AAUW this is not a partisan issue. It is a good government issue. Cases this new term focus on pivotal issues like criminal justice, civil rights, and voting rights, just to name a few. And the Supreme Court should not shy away from hearing cases involving important issues out of a concern over ideological deadlock. This is too important for obstructionist senators to decide that an 8-member court is "good enough" for now. We need the Senate to do better. We need 9 justices and we need them now.

On Tuesday, the 202nd day since Garland was nominated, AAUW joined with coalition partners at the steps of the U.S. Supreme Court to call for confirmation hearings. Two-hundred and two people representing a variety of advocacy organizations gathered in front of the court to send a clear message to the Senate: we need 9 justices on the bench. In addition to this day of action in the nation's capital, AAUW members and supporters in all 50 states have made their voices heard by sending thousands of messages to their senators about the vacancy. What an amazing display of the power of AAUW's grassroots!

Bits and Pieces

- The Department of Justice's Office on Violence Against Women has awarded nine grants worth $9.4 million to help organizations trainings to prevent gender bias in law enforcement. The guidance aims to help police incorporate gender bias trainings into clear policies and effective supervision protocols.
- The U.S. Department of Education told Texas officials they must eliminate their special education target enrollment rate of 8.5 percent unless they can prove it has not kept students from receiving appropriate education services. Critics of the target rate argue that it acts as a cap on the number of students in need who are able to access special education programs.
- The United States has the most female CEOs in its history, with a record 27 women CEOs of S&P 500 companies. However, this number makes up only 5 percent of the S&P's CEOs. Overall numbers are up, but there is still a long way to go.
- President Obama has directed the CIA and other national security agencies to promote diversity in their ranks. He published a Presidential Memorandum advising agencies to improve collection of workplace diversity data, providing more professional development opportunities, and expanding implicit bias and inclusion trainings.
- Mother Jones released a tracker that compares newspaper endorsements in presidential elections. So far, no major editorial board has endorsed Donald Trump, while several papers are endorsing Hillary Clinton switching parties for the first time in decades.
- Baylor University's Title IX coordinator has stepped down. Patty Crawford asserted that she did not want to be part of the schools' "problem," and felt she lacked the authority or resources to do her job appropriately. The school has been plagued by sexual assault allegations that led previous president, Ken Starr, to resign last year.
- McDonald's has ignored 15 separate cases of serious sexual harassment withstood by employees in eight states. Workers reported being groped, hearing obscene comments about their appearance and sexual orientation from coworkers and superiors, and being shown lewd photos without their consent." Excerpted from AAUW Washington Update.

There is a lot of research for all of us to do for the propositions and measures. I am reading and preparing now for this very important election and I'm sure you are all too.

Elena Noble, Start Smart Facilitator (PH-M)

There is good news this fall in AAUW’s effort to offer Wage Negotiation Classes for Equal Pay. Since taking over the former WAGE Project, AAUW has redesigned and trained five Inter-Branch Council of CCC members to facilitate classes at Diablo Valley College, Cal State Stanislaus, Chico State College, and The University of the Pacific.

In late September, your StartSmart Team met and began discussing plans to offer future AAUW Workshops this spring. Members include: Elaine Groen (Concord), Marie Bonilla, Diane Bell-Rettger, Sara Lautenbach, Jill West and Marjorie Singler (OML).

The drive this year for Equal Pay, a Raise in Minimum Wage, and passage of the Fair Pay Act, has been a big part of the current Political Lexicon. Using Social Media, National has started posting StartSmart Workshops on Face Book and Twitter. And, Presidential Candidate, Hillary Clinton has made it a major part of her platform calling it,

“The Smart Card!”

Students expressing appreciation that our organization makes this information available to them commented:

“Wonderful, much needed information. I would not have thought to negotiate.”

And,

“The Wage Gap is real, thank you for helping me realize I can do something about it.”

If you are interested in sitting in on a Start Smart Class, or in becoming a facilitator, please contact me at
